A Few Facts

To Ponder Over.

No merchant whose expenses are large can sell goods at a small profit. We do most our work ourselves, buy our goods from the best houses in the city, and best of all, content ourselves with the lowest margin of profit.

Our New Fall Goods

Are in and our store is crowded with Bargains for everybody.

We buy your produce, pay the highest price for it, and believe we can save you money on anything that can be obtained in a first-class

GENERAL STORE.

Come to see us, we take as much pleasure in showing you our goods as some merchants do in selling you.

Short, Readable Items of Interest to All.

Charles Charleson committed suicide at Paducah, by cutting his throat.

Andrew Zimmerman was run down by a switch engine at Louisville and instantly killed.

Sheep killing dogs are causing farmers much trouble in Woodford and Mercer counties.

"The Service Men of the Spanish War," of Lexington filed articles of incorporation as a fraternal association with the Secretary of State.

The statement of L. & N. earnings for the first week of November shows a total of $471,150, an increase of $76,485 over the same week of last year.

Woodson May, of Perryville, shaves regularly with a razor which is 150 years old. The razor is twice the size of any ordinary razor of to-day.

Hon. Thomas C. Bradley, a former member of the Kentucky Legislature, and a farmer, residing four miles east of Elizabethtown, committed suicide Tuesday.

Vest Smith, an employe of the Louisville Bridge company, Louisville, jumped out of the way of one train and was struck by another and instantly killed.

The Farmers' Bank of Princeton filed incorporation articles Friday of last week in the office of the Secretary of State. The capital stock is fixed at $30,000.

At Cloverport, Miss Besse Hambleton, a plucky girl, fell into a well thirty feet to the water and climbed out by sticking her toes in the cracks in the wall.

Lexington capitalists are talking of building an electric railway to connect Richmond and Lexington. The line will probably be extended to Georgetown.

The seven-year-old daughter of Will McCoy was burned to death while playing about a hay stack with other children. The hay stack took fire from some unknown cause.

The Spillman-Ellis Tobacco Company, of Covington, worth $10,000 capital stock, filed articles of incorporation. H. E. Spillman, W. E. Ellis and L. T. Anderson are the chief stockholders.

At Mayking, Isom Gibson, a well known farmer, drank a considerable quantity of sugar cane juice and died from the effects.

At Grassy Lick, Montgomery Co., Reuben Noland, a white man, became engaged in a difficulty with a gang of negroes and was shot and killed by one of the crowd.

Patrick Henry, who is a son of Patrick Henry, Jr., and a grandson of the renowned Revolutionary orator and patriot, lives at Vanceburg, Ky., at the advanced age of eighty-five.

The Tracy school house, on the Mt. Sterling pike, near the Clark county line, was destroyed by fire last week. The furniture and books of the children were also burned.

To clean a spice mill grind a handful of raw rice.

A whisk broom is just the thing to clean the horse radish grater.

Corsets with the whalebone removed make good cleaning cloths.

Wood ashes put in a woolen bag and placed in the water will make hard water soft.

Pickles or vinegar will not keep in a jar that has ever had any kind of grease kept in it.

Clam shells are more convenient for scraping pots and kettles than a knife, requiring less time.

Ceilings that have become smoked by a kerosene lamp should be washed off with weak soda water.

Put a little household ammonia on a rag and clean off the rolls of the wringer before putting it away.

Drain pipes that are sour or impure may be cleaned with lime water or carbolic acid or chloride of lime.—Ex.

What to Teach Boys.

A philosopher has said that true education of boys is to "teach them what they should know when they become men."

1. To be true and to be genuine. No education is worth anything that does not include this. A man had better not know how to read, and be true and genuine in action, rather than be learned in all sciences and in all languages, and be at the same time false in heart and counterfeit in life. Above all things teach the boys that truth is more than riches, power or possessions.

2. To be pure in thought, language and life—pure in mind and in body.

3. To be unselfish. To care for the feelings and comforts of others. To be generous, noble and manly. This will include a genuine reverence for the aged and for things sacred.

4. To be self-reliant and self-helpful, even from childhood. To be industrious always and self-supporting at the earliest proper age. Teach them that all honest work is honorable; that an idle life of dependence on others is disgraceful.

When a boy has learned these things, says a writer in an exchange, when he has made these ideas part of him—however poor or however rich—he has learned the most important things he ought to know.

Next fall we will elect all State officers from Governor down and in this county a State Senator and a Representative. The field will soon be full of candidates, all of whom have yielded to the strong solicitations of their numerous friends, who say he can win without the least bit of trouble.

It is authoritatively stated that ex-Governor John Young Brown will, in a few days, announce himself a candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. Brown made us a mighty good governor, but we think one term is enough for him—in fact enough for any man these days, when the woods are full of timber, and in view of the fact that there are a number of good Democrats already announced for the office.—Richmond Register.

A private in an Ohio regiment now in Porto Rico writes: "If you want to know what a grand, glorious and sugar-coated thing a woman is join the army as I did. See nothing but men from morning till night. Join the army and loaf with men, eat with men, talk with men, help men, carry men, walk over men, shoot men, succor men, see men, men, men, and nothing but men. Live in a perpetual atmosphere of suppressed profanity, boot smell and tobacco smoke and at the end of three weeks you would be passionately enamored with the mummy of an Egyptian servant girl and give her an electric kiss that would burn 2,000 years of dried hide into a flushed and velvety animation.—Exchange.

Moody, the evangelist, recently met a man who declared himself sinless. "Well," said the preacher, "I'm glad to know it, but I'd like to ask your wife first."

CORRESPONDENCE IRVINE.

TOO LATE FOR LAST WEEK.

The election went off quietly.

A wedding in the near future—guess who?

Miss Annette Riddell is visiting in Nicholasville.

Miss Maud Miller is visiting friends in Elizabethtown.

Born, to the wife of J. H. Sugitt, November 6th, a bouncing boy.

Miss Katharine McAfee visited friends at Wisemantown last week.

J. Elliott Riddell, of Louisville, made a short visit home this week.

Several of our prominent business men attended Richmond court Monday.

All Irvine people subscribe for the "Times." It is a newsy little paper.

J. Samuels Gardner, of Rice Station, was a welcome visitor for a short time last Tuesday.

Uncle John Powell is very sick at this writing. He is suffering from injuries received from a fall.

Dillard Dalton, who has been employed in a mill in Sandusky, O., for the past six months, came home last Monday.

Miss Lilly Barker who is teaching school at Mt. Zion, visited her parents here last Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. Matt Hacker and daughter, Vera, visited Mrs. Hacker's parents at Richmond last Tuesday and Wednesday.

A very interesting Methodist meeting is being conducted by Rev. Ed Allen, at Wisemantown, with wonderful success.

Vaughn's Mill.

G. S. Mize has moved to Clay City.

Preaching at the Christian church next Sunday.

Dillard Snowden has moved into the house with his mother near Spoutspring.

John O. Daniel, who has been quite poorly for some time, is still quite feeble.

Wm. Snowden, Jr., has moved into the house vacated by Dillard Snowden.

Uncle Isaac Mize, who has been quite sick for some time, is still in a very bad condition.

Mr. and Mrs. Clay Chambers have moved from Clay City to Mrs. Chambers' farm near this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Gravett entertained quite a number of young folks at their home last Saturday night.

Mrs. Fannie Benton, who has been visiting relatives here for several days, returned to her home at Irvine Saturday.

Leg Lick.

C. R. King is still improving. He says his improvement is not caused by the medicine, but it is on account of Republican victories in the late Congressional campaign.

Simon Demaree, one of our up-to-date farmers, raised an unusual crop of corn this season. He selected eighty average ears that, when shelled out, measured one bushel and one peck.

A large number of friends and relatives assembled at the Log Lick church Monday to pay the last tribute of respect to all that was mortal of J. Smith Vivion, who died at his home in Powell county November 12. After religious services by Rev. Marcum, the remains were interred by the Masonic order of which he had long been an honorable member.

Charley Puckett has about completed his new residence.

Richard and Ed King attended court at Lexington Monday.

The members of the Christian church at this place have put a new roof on their side of the church house.

Calvin Chism has erected stocks and purchased a dehorning saw and is now prepared to dehorn cattle at ten cents per head.

Uncle Jim Chism says that all signs point to an unusually cold winter—that even the American Eagle is fuller feathered than usual.

Country Editor.

The country editor has a charter from the State to act as door-mat for the community. He will get the paper out somehow and stand up for the town and whoop it up for you when you run for office and lie about your big-footed son when he gets a $4 job and weep over your shiveled soul when it is released from its grasping body and smile at your wife's second marriage. Don't worry about the editor; he'll get along. The Lord only knows how—but somehow.—Exchange.

Pointed Paragraphs.

Woman is a fair sample of divine contradictions.

Women of fashion are invariably in love with themselves.

Truth never dodges, no matter who throws mud at it.

The fellow who shakes the tree does not always get the most fruit.

A cynical bachelor says that woman is an agreeable blunder of nature.

There is no fool like an old fool who tries to act like a young fool.

It is easier for some girls to win admirers than it is to capture a husband.

Some men never do a charitable act unless there is some one around to applaud.

Time is money, so 'tis said, and yet lots of fools throw away money to kill time.

No man is so ignorant that he doesn't know what he would do if he were in your place.

It's a poor rule that won't work both ways, but it's a poorer one that won't work at all.

At 40 a man doesn't know as much as he thought he knew at 20, but he knows he knows more.

Every man is supposed to know his own business, but it is often hard to convince his friends that he does.

Although a man and wife are looked upon as one, some wives consider their husbands very small fractions.

There wouldn't be half enough room at the top if all the people succeeded in getting there who think they ought to.—Ex.

An Old Adage Reads:

"There is a place for everything"

Now for everything to be in its place. The Louisville Dispatch should be in the home of every Democrat in the South. The Dispatch is the people's paper, owned by the people and read by the people. The Dispatch is the only Democratic paper published in Louisville. It stands squarely on the Chicago platform. It is not only in a flourishing condition after eighteen months battling against adverse circumstances, but is to-day the best medium in the South. And its motto—If you see it in the Dispatch it's so; if it's so it is always in the Dispatch, has been fully verified during the American-Spanish war, during which the superiority of its news service has been daily apparent.

The Dispatch news service is furnished by the New York Sun, the Chicago Inter-Ocean, the Northern Press Association and the Leslie Syndicate with an active salaried correspondent in every important city in the world, besides its own staff of over 300 correspondents in Kentucky, Tennessee and Indiana. Get the Dispatch, it gives the news, and tells the truth about it.

The Dispatch is Kentucky's greatest paper. You should be a reader. For the next few weeks we will club with the Weekly Dispatch at the extremely low price of 75 cts.

J. W. Henry went to Clay City Wednesday and bought the lumber for his photograph gallery at this place.

Since the election is over the campaign orators will now have an opportunity to read up for the next "political twist."

J. W. Dawson & Bro. have bought a number of rabbits since the season opened. They sold a bunch Monday.

The election throughout Kentucky was one of the quietest in the history of the State. There were no rows or trouble of any kind.

We don't like to brag on our business, but when we have a run like that of last week, it makes us feel like life is worth living.

J. E. Burghier sold seven head of good cattle to Walt. Azbill for a Mr. Pace, of Clark county, at $40 per head.

At John Seay's sale last Saturday, all things sold well at moderate prices. Corn in the field brought 80c and 90c per barrel.

Next Thursday is Thanksgiving, and if some kind hearted subscriber does not come to our rescue with a turkey, the editor's family will have to do without on this occasion.

The mud tunnel on the L. & E. road near Jackson, Ky., has caved in, causing some delay to trains. The tunnel will be removed entirely and the road cleared of any obstruction of this kind.

J. W. Dawson & Bro. are fast increasing their business of late. They sell goods on the very lowest margin of profit and treat their customers in the politest manner possible, which will attract trade.

In 1887 Mr. Thomas McIntosh, of Allentown, Tenn., had an attack of dysentery, which became chronic. "I was treated by the best physicians in East Tennessee without a cure," he says. "Finally I tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. After using about twelve bottles I was cured sound and well." For sale by J. W. Dawson & Bro.

We call attention to the new advertisement of the Commercial College of Kentucky University, which appears in this issue on the first page. This is a first-class institution. All young business men should take a course and they cannot attend a better school than the Commercial of Kentucky University.

J. W. Henry, the photographer, has decided to build a gallery at this place and locate here. He will build on a lot on Main street, north of this office. Since moving to this place, he has had a good run of work and thinks this will be a good location for his business. We extend a hearty welcome to Mr. Henry and wish him success.

A friend presents us a beautiful clock, which, attached to or near a gas jet gives a strong, clear light, showing the exact time to everyone in the room, says an exchange. It might be almost as useful as the musical parlor clock which a good father bought for the benefit of the young men who called upon his daughters, and which would play at 9:30, "Home, Sweet Home;" at 10, "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp;" and at 10:30, "Johnny, Get Your Gun."

James Snowden, ex-constable of the Snow Creek precinct, has been placed on the Stanton police force.

The following town officers were elected for Irvine: Houston Barker defeated Ben Jacobs for Police Judge by nine votes. Edgar Park was elected marshal over Wm. Heather by eight votes. Trustees elected were: Tom Williams, Jr., D. Bergman, Sam Tudor, Bert Powell and E. Conroy.

The will of the late Lee Jake White, which was appealed from Powell Circuit Court, has been sustained by the Court of Appeals. The suit was brought by White's legal heirs, he in his will, having left all of his property to John G. Cole, who raised Mr. White from boyhood.

DIED.

At his home in Powell county, near the Clark county line, J. Smith Vivion, Saturday night, of pneumonia. Deceased was about sixty-five years of age. He was buried Monday at Log Lick, his funeral being preached by Eld. E. W. Marcum before burial. He was a member of the Christian church, and a member of the F. and A. M. Lodge, in the honors of which he was buried, and an excellent citizen will be missed by his numerous friends and neighbors.

The man who pays as he goes seldom goes fast enough to overheat himself.

A Sure Sign of Croup.

Hoarseness in a child that is subject to croup is a sure indication of the approach of the disease. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough has appeared, it will prevent the attack. Many mothers who have croupy children always keep this remedy at hand and find that it saves much trouble and worry. It can always be depended upon and is pleasant to take. For sale by J. W. The Best Plaster.

A piece of flannel dampened with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bound on the affected parts is superior to any plaster. When troubled with a pain in the chest or side, or a lame back, give it a trial. You will be certain to be more than pleased with the prompt relief which it affords. Pain Balm is also a certain cure for rheumatism. For sale by J. W. Dawson & Bro.

The editor of a Kansas paper states that he picked up a Winchester rifle one day recently and started down the street to deliver the weapon to its owner. The delinquent subscribers, however, got it into their heads that he was on the war path, and every one that he met insisted on paying what they owed him. One man wiped out a debt of ten years standing. On his return to the office he found a load of hay, 15 bushels of corn, ten bushels of potatoes, a load of wood and a barrel of turnips that had been brought in by delinquents.

The President's Salary.

The prevailing idea that our president gets $50,000 a year and that is all, is a mistake. He in addition gets $36,064 to pay subordinate clerk hire. Private secretary, $8,250; his assistant secretary, $2,250; stenographer, $1,800; two door-keepers, each $1,200; a steward, $1,800, and others at good salaries; $8,000 is allowed him for incidental expenses, such as stationery, carpets, and the care of the stables. Under another head there is given $40,000 more; $12,500 for repairing and re-furnishing the White House; $2,600 for fuel, $400 is for the green house and $15,000 is for gas, watches, stable, etc. The White House in connection with the president costs the country about $125,000 a year.—American Tribune.

"My case is just here," said a citizen to a lawyer. "The plaintiff will swear that I hit him. I will swear that I didn't. Now what can you lawyers make out of that?" "A hundred dollars easy," was the reply.

Flirtation is like a piece of chewing gum; the longer you keep it the less satisfaction you derive from it.

From New Zealand.

REEFTON, New Zealand, Nov. 23, 1896.

I am very pleased to state that since I took the agency of Chamberlain's medicines the sale has been very large, more especially of the Cough Remedy. In two years I have sold more of this particular remedy than of all other makes for the previous five years. As to its efficacy, I have been informed by scores of persons of the good results they have received from it, and know its value from the use of it in my own household. It is so pleasant to take that we have to place the bottle beyond the reach of the children. E. J. SCANTLEBURY.

Doctor Mathews says that "to no other cause, perhaps, is failure in life so frequently to be traced as to a mistaken calling." We often find out what we cannot do before we find out what we can do. This negative process of eliminating the doubtful chances is often the only way of attaining to the positive conclusion.

Beware of that fatal gift, versatility. Many a person misses being a great man by splitting himself into middling ones. Universality is the ignis fatuus which has deluded many a promising mind. In attempting to gain a knowledge of half a hundred subjects men have mastered none.

"The measure of a man's learning will be the amount of his voluntary ignorance," said Thoreau. If we go into a factory where the mariners' compass is made, we can see the needless before they are magnetized, and they will point in any direction. But when they have been applied to the magnet and received its peculiar power, from that moment they point to the North, and true to the pole ever after. So man never points steadily in any direction until he has become polarized by the choice of his ideal career.

Starting a Young Man Right.

"If more fathers would take a course with their sons similar to the one my father took with me," observed one of the leading business men of Boston, "the boys might think it hard at the time, but they'd thank him in after life."

"What sort of a course?" we asked.

"Well, I was a young fellow of twenty-one, just out of college, and I felt myself of considerable importance. I knew my father was well off, and my head was full of foolish notions of having a good time and spending lots of money. Later on I expected father to start me in business, after I'd 'swelled' a while at clubs with fine horse-flesh.

"Like a wise man, father saw through my folly, and resolved to prevent my self-destruction, if it were possible.

"If the boy's got the right kind of stuff in him, let him prove it," I heard father say to mother one day. "I worked hard for my money, and I don't intend to let Ned squander it and ruin himself besides."

"That very day father came along and handed me fifty dollars, remarking, 'Ned, take that money, spend it as you choose, but understand this much: it's the last dollar of my money you can have till you prove yourself capable of earning money and taking care of it on your own account.'

"I took the money in a sort of dazed manner, and stammered out, 'I—why—I—I want to go into business.'

"'Business!' exclaimed father, contemptuously, 'what do you know about managing the mercantile business? Get a clerkship and learn the alphabet before you talk to me of business.' And father left me then to ponder on his words. And that fifty dollars was the last money father ever gave me till at his death I received my part of the estate by inheritance.

"I felt hard and bitter then, felt my father was a stingy old fogey and mentally resolved to prove to him that I could live without his money. He aroused my pride—just what he intended, I suppose.

"For three days I looked about for a place to make lots of money. But I found no such chances, and at length I accepted a clerkship in a large retail store at $400 a year."—Saturday Evening Post.

The Commercial Decline of New York City.

The special commission appointed by Governor Black, under an Act of the last Legislature of New York, to consider the great decline in the commerce of the port of New York, will have four months in which to study a problem that has deeply concerned business circles for several years. Since 1880 there has been an annual falling off in the volume of foreign commerce of about $25,000,000, and in the same period the average annual increase for the whole country has been $48,000,000. If the port has secured its fair proportion of the general increase it would have had an average annual increase of about $24,000,000, instead of having an annual decrease even larger than this amount.

In the period of 1880-1897 the port had only a fraction over six per cent. of the increase of the general commerce of the country, while Boston had twenty per cent. A long list of reasons for this decline has been given, the strongest alleging transportation discrimination and excessive terminal charges, and the Governor's commission is charged to make an exhaustive study of the matter to find the real cause and suggest a remedy.—Exchange.
